"An Optical Soundsation!"

AN OPTICAL SOUNDSATION

Music rumbles through the night, flashes of light streak the trees along the path to the main stage as nervous hands grasp the fresh ticket stub. He recognizes his favorite band, yet nothing can prepare him for what is just around the corner, an explosion of sight and sound awaits.

“The light show started and I literally felt like I was on another planet. Stage Trip Productions set a crazy psychedelic feel with a rainbow of lights and lasers. It’s something that you just have to experience.”

Sarah Waltman -Tri State Indie

The Mid-Atlantic region is a hotbed for music in America, with festivals being the crown jewel of the scene. Jam Bands, Americana, and Bluegrass are meeting Indie, Hip-Hop, and Rock and Roll. We at Stage Trip Productions are proud to be a part of the birth of several of these festivals and are honored to have these key players on our team. ## The Mission

Life sometimes throws us a curve. We like to call them opportunities. Founder and lead engineer, Andrew Levin, started this work after a life-altering illness ended a previously successful electrical contracting business. What would be the end of some mens story, became the beginning of his. With nothing left but passion and a dream, Stage Trip Productions was born. Consequently, the people who have been drawn to stand with him are driven, passionate, and ready to make things happen.

Since our inception, Stage Trip has been involved with the production of numerous charity events. We have helped raise money and support for organizations such as Autism Awareness, Hurricane Relief, Toys for Tots, Sandy Paws, and The Variety Club, among others. We are passionate about such things as Mental Health Awareness, Fibromyalgia & Auto-Immune Disorders, and are committed to bringing attention to these vital issues.

Stage Trip Productions' family of artists and technicians have come together with a balance of skill, creativity, and good intent. Our Goal is to continue what we've begun, producing unforgettable shows and events, bringing attention to the causes that are dear to our hearts.
